WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section fair and continued cool tonight; Tuesday fair; warmer; light easterly winds.

Tournament.

The annual tournament of the Francis Tourney Club, under the management of Mr. F. Owen Tripp, took place near Franconia, in Fairfax county, Thursday. A large number of visitors from Washington, Alexandria and other nearby places were present. After the riding and polo dinner was served, then came the exercises of crowning the queen. Mr. John Grehan crowned Miss Thomas queen. Mr. Popkins crowned Miss Walsh first maid of honor. Mr. Everett Triplett crowned Miss Butler second maid of honor and Mr. Arthur Kirby crowned Miss Kearney third maid of honor. The judges were Messrs. Dodd, Wolf and Reid; chief marshal, Mr. Lamar Monroe; assistant marshal, Mr. Dodd, Jr.; Mr. George Humphreys was orator of the day. Dancing was kept up until late in the evening.

Attempted Suicide.

Arthur M. Colan, from Herndon, Fairfax county, attempted to commit suicide early yesterday morning at the Mount Vernon Hotel, Pennsylvania Avenue northwest, Washington, where he had been stopping. It was shortly before 5 in the morning when the night clerk detected the odor of gas about the house, and on making an investigation discovered fumes emanating from the room occupied by Colan. The door was opened, and Colan was found lying on the bed unconscious. He was taken to the Emergency hospital and after being given treatment was placed on a cot. He was able to leave the hospital during the forenoon. No reason was assigned for the man's attempt. A bottle of laudanum was found under his pillow after he had been sent to the hospital.

A Beautiful Tribute of Respect.

The Alexandrians employed at the Washington navy yard have prepared a beautiful tribute of respect to the memory of the late Leonard Marbury, who was uniting in his efforts in their behalf. It is a set of appropriate resolutions artistically executed and placed in a rich frame as large as a page of the Gazette. The work was executed with a pen by Mr. Caleb Clark, and all who have seen it pronounce it the best specimen of such skill they ever seen. The names of Messrs. Henry F. Charles, Walter M. McCaffrey, W. H. Hunter, Ed. M. Birrell, Chas. H. Collins, James G. Graham and S. R. Wade, the committee are signed to the resolutions. The tribute will be presented to Mr. Marbury's family.

Thrown From a Trap.

About nine o'clock yesterday morning Miss Elizabeth L. Lee while driving a friend to the Leesburg depot was thrown from a trap at the intersection of Prince and Washington streets and painfully cut and bruised about the head. The horse which Miss Lee was driving made a sharp turn around the Confederate Monument and slipped on the vitrified brick paving. As the animal fell it threw Miss Lee forward to the pavement and rendered her unconscious. She was carried into a house in the neighborhood and Dr. Hugh McGuire was summoned. Miss Lee revived in a short while, after which she was removed to her home, 706 Duke street. Her injuries are not of a serious nature.

The Colored Industrial Parade.

At a meeting of the staff held Saturday evening to further the arrangements for the colored agricultural and industrial parade in this city on next Monday afternoon additional assistant marshals were appointed. Rev. W. F. Graham, of Richmond, will be the orator of the day. The committee on badges has adopted a blue ribbon badge with gold lettered inscription: "First Agricultural and Industrial Conference and Parade, Alexandria, Va., Sept. 22, 1902." The ribbon is decorated with a white medallion bearing the portrait of Chairman Robinson, an honor accorded him for his zeal in promoting this movement.

The following cases were disposed of by Mayor Simpson this morning: Albert Morton, colored, charged with assaulting and beating Gertrude Evans, forfeited $5 by failing to appear. Charles Parker, colored, charged with assaulting Elma Parker, were fined $10. Henry Robinson, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was fined $10. John and Ann Russell, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was fined $5 each. Wm. Colder, charged with vagrancy, was sent out of the city.

As had been anticipated, a large number of persons availed themselves of the opportunity afforded yesterday of visiting the Congressional Library in Washington. Many from this city were present and all were much pleased to dispose of this interesting public institution would in future be placed at the disposal of a class of persons who have no other opportunity save Sunday to visit such buildings. A Sensation.

On Saturday afternoon a sensation occurred in this city which has been the theme of considerable comment ever since. An incensed wife entered her husband's place of business and finding a woman there seized a piece of iron pipe and dealt the stranger several blows on her head. It is said a man who happened to be present and undertook to act as peacemaker was also severely handled. The female who had incurred the wife's animosity was carried to the Alexandria Hospital bleeding profusely from her wounds. Subsequently she left the city.

Had the Moon in His Pocket.

A man who gave his name as Corder was found prowling around the wharves last night and taken in charge by special officer Mullen. He was on the Baltimore steamer dock when the boat arrived and demanded that he be taken to Washington immediately, as he had the moon in his pocket and should be not reach the capital city in a few minutes' time it would be destroyed. This morning Mayor Simpson gave him a limiting time in which to leave Alexandria. He left a blasphemous address at the station house in case any one desired to communicate with him.

Turned Over to Her Mother.

A woman named Roberts, living in Washington, came here this morning for the purpose of finding her daughter Lillie, who had left home and come to this city. Officers Roberts and Bettis found the girl on the street and turned her over to her mother, and later the couple left for Washington. It is said that the girl was visiting a female acquaintance in the southwestern part of the city.

Work on King Street.

The work of repaving King street will, it is believed, be brought to a temporary stop today for the reason that the railway company has no grooved rails at its command. The square between Royal and Pitt streets will be about half paved. The company announced that the rails they had ordered would be here last week, but for some reason they failed to reach here.

Fined Fifteen Dollars.

A young married woman living in the southeastern section of the city started out this morning in search of a house. She was engaged in inspecting one which she was being conducted through by a carpenter when his conduct was of such a nature as to cause her to complain to the Mayor. A warrant was issued for the man and he was fined $15.
